

“Excellence is not a skill, it’s an attitude.” – Ralph Marston

Tetso College: Manipuri Student goes on a date with a mannequin for Valentines Day

Mr. Themshok in the lobby with his valentine

CHUMOUKEDIMA, FEB 15: Mr. Themshok Ningshen a second semester student from the department of Mass Communication, Tetso College had people turn their heads with laughter and confusion as he arrived to the college campus with a life-sized mannequin as his date for Valentine’s day. The College students were puzzled as Mr. Themshok brought his lifeless companion to the college cafe and started engaging in conversations with the mannequin. Eyewitnesses have also mentioned that he often broke into laughter and also ordered food and drinks for both. The Mass Communication Dept students and the Psychology Dept students were quick to arrive at the scene. The psychology students examined his behaviors while the media students interviewed him. He explained “I got tired of waiting for the right person so I made my own perfect date. She doesn’t talk, argue, ignore or avoid me, she always listens which is her best trait.

In the now viral photo posted in social media,

we can see Mr. Themshok hold the mannequin in a loving gesture. Women on social media went into a frenzy after seeing his gesture commenting “The hand placement is to die for” and some commenting “Women 0 Mannequin 1”

Despite the unusual evening, Mr. Themshok reportedly seem leaving the cafe grinning from ear to ear carrying the mannequin with love and care. His actions made this year’s Valentine’s day memorable, not only for him but for all the people who witnessed the unusual scene.

According to bystanders, Mr. Themshok pulled out a chair, carefully adjusted his mannequin’s posture, and even ordered two drinks—one for himself and one for his silent companion. His attention to detail and affectionate mannerisms left onlookers both amused and intrigued. Some whispered, wondering if it was a daring social experiment, while others simply enjoyed the lightheartedness of the situation.

When asked about his unusual date, Mr. Themshok reportedly smiled and said, “She doesn’t argue, she listens to me, and most importantly—she doesn’t check my phone!” His playful response sent the entire café into laughter, making the evening unforgettable for everyone present.

Verte Nuh: From Nagaland to the World – A Rising Star in Music & Vlogging

CHUMOUKEDIMA, FEB 29: Verte Nuh, a young and talented content creator from Nagaland, is making waves with his music and vlogs, gradually rising from a state-level personality to national and even international recognition. A second-semester Mass Communication student at Tetso College, Verte has captured the attention of many with his creative storytelling and unique presentation of life in Nagaland.

Verte Nuh’s journey began with a simple passion for documenting everyday experiences and sharing them with the world. His vlogs provide a refreshing perspective on Nagaland’s rich culture, breathtaking landscapes, and modern lifestyle, giving viewers an authentic glimpse into the state. Through his engaging visuals, relatable narratives, and charismatic personality, he has built a loyal and rapidly growing audience. Verte Nuh’s journey began with a simple passion for documenting everyday experiences and sharing them with the world. His vlogs provide a refreshing perspective on Nagaland’s rich culture, breathtaking landscapes, and modern lifestyle, giving viewers an authentic glimpse into the state. Through his engaging visuals, relatable narratives, and charismatic personality, he has built a loyal and rapidly growing audience.

Verte Nuh

Verte Nuh’s journey began with a simple passion for documenting everyday experiences and sharing them with the world. His vlogs provide a refreshing perspective on Nagaland’s rich culture, breathtaking landscapes, and modern lifestyle, giving viewers an authentic glimpse into the state. Through his engaging visuals, relatable narratives,

